Strafford

Presenting a live 90-minute webinar with interactive Q&A

Antitrust Compliance: Leveraging Lessons from the Apple Ruling to Mitigate Liability and Damages

TUESDAY, AUGUST 13, 2013

1pm Eastern | 12pm Central | 11am Mountain | 10am Pacific

Today's faculty features:

Mark J. Botti, Partner, Squire Sanders, Washington, D.C.

Anthony Swisher, Partner, Squire Sanders, Washington, D.C.

Christopher L. Sagers, Professor, Cleveland-Marshall College of Law, Cleveland

The audio portion of the conference may be accessed via the telephone or by using your computer's speakers. Please refer to the instructions emailed to registrants for additional information. If you have any questions, please contact Customer Service at 1-800-926-7926 ext. 10.

Tips for Optimal Quality

Sound Quality

If you are listening via your computer speakers, please note that the quality of your sound will vary depending on the speed and quality of your internet connection.

If the sound quality is not satisfactory and you are listening via your computer speakers, you may listen via the phone: dial 1-888-601-3873 and enter your PIN when prompted. Otherwise, please send us a chat or e-mail sound@straffordpub.com immediately so we can address the problem.

If you dialed in and have any difficulties during the call, press *0 for assistance.

Viewing Quality

To maximize your screen, press the F11 key on your keyboard. To exit full screen, press the F11 key again.

Continuing Education Credits

FOR LIVE EVENT ONLY

For CLE purposes, please let us know how many people are listening at your location by completing each of the following steps:

- In the chat box, type (1) your company name and (2) the number of attendees at your location
- Click the SEND button beside the box

If you have purchased Strafford CLE processing services, you must confirm your participation by completing and submitting an Official Record of Attendance (CLE Form).

You may obtain your CLE form by going to the program page and selecting the appropriate form in the PROGRAM MATERIALS box at the top right corner.

If you'd like to purchase CLE credit processing, it is available for a fee. For additional information about CLE credit processing, go to our website or call us at 1-800-926-7926 ext. 35.

Program Materials

If you have not printed the conference materials for this program, please complete the following steps:

- Click on the + sign next to “Conference Materials” in the middle of the left-hand column on your screen.
- Click on the tab labeled “Handouts” that appears, and there you will see a PDF of the slides for today's program.
- Double click on the PDF and a separate page will open.
- Print the slides by clicking on the printer icon.

SQUIRE SANDERS

Antitrust Compliance: Leveraging Lessons from the Apple Ruling to Mitigate Liability and Damages

Squire Sanders
Mark J. Botti
Anthony W. Swisher

Cleveland State University
Christopher L. Sagers

August 13, 2013

Potential Antitrust Liability

- "[T]his Court finds by a preponderance of the evidence that Apple conspired to restrain trade in violation of Section 1 of the Sherman Act . . . ." Op. at 159
- "The state attorneys general and private plaintiffs suing Apple Inc. and five major publishers for fixing the price of e-books may be seeking nearly $500 million in damages from the iPad maker . . . ."

  Melissa Lipman, "Apple May Face A $500M Bill On E-Books," Law360, July 25, 2013, http://www.law360.com/articles/459774

Proposed Injunctive Relief

Proposed by DOJ, inter alia:

- Restrictions on use of MFNs
- Restrictions on use of agency arrangements
- Allow e-book retailers to sell e-books directly from their apps
- Limits on Apple's conduct with respect to content other than books (e.g., music, movies)
- Outside monitor, and internal Antitrust Compliance Officer

Legal Framework for the Decision

- Section 1 of the Sherman Act
  - "[C]ontract, combination . . . , or conspiracy, in restraint of trade or commerce . . . ."
- Court found Section 1 violation under either a per se or rule-of-reason standard. Op. at 120-21
- Publishers are horizontal competitors
- Apple described as a "vertical" participant
  - "Where a vertical actor is alleged to have participated in an unlawful horizontal agreement, plaintiffs must demonstrate both that a horizontal conspiracy existed, and that the vertical player was a knowing participant in that agreement and facilitated the scheme." Op. at 112-13
  - Toys "R" Us and Interstate Circuit line of cases

Legal Framework for the Decision

- Proof of concerted action
  - "A plaintiff may rely on either direct or circumstantial evidence to establish that a defendant entered into an agreement in violation of the antitrust laws." Op. at 108
  - Inferences fairly drawn from behavior
  - For vertical player: "[D]irect or circumstantial evidence must be present that 'tends to prove that the manufacturer and others had a conscious commitment to a common scheme designed to achieve an unlawful objective.'" Op. at 126-27 (citing Monsanto)

Selected Factual Findings

- "On a fairly regular basis, roughly once a quarter, the CEOs of the Publishers held dinners in the private dining rooms of New York restaurants, without counsel or assistants present, in order to discuss the common challenges they faced, including most prominently Amazon's pricing policies. . . . [T]hey felt no hesitation in freely discussing Amazon's prices with each other and their joint strategies for raising those prices." Op. at 19-20

Selected Factual Findings

- “Understanding the impropriety of this exchange of confidential information with a competitor, Young advised Nourry that ‘it would be prudent for you to double delete this from your email files when you return to your office.’” Op. at 22

Selected Factual Findings

- "[Apple's] Cue wrote six essentially identical emails. Only the introduction varied. For the three Publishers with whom he had talked in late December, Cue began his emails with, 'As we discussed.' For the other three, he began with the following comment: 'After talking to all the other publishers and seeing the overall book environment, here is what I think is the best approach for ebooks." Op. at 45
- "He emphasized that 'to sell e-books at realistic prices . . . all resellers of new titles need to be in agency model.'" Op. at 46

Selected Factual Findings

- “[Apple] advocated for an industry-wide adoption of the agency model as ‘the only way’ to ‘move the whole market off 9.99.’” Op. at 47
- “As Cue put it bluntly to Hachette, the agency model proposed by Apple was ‘the best chance for publishers to challenge the 9.99 price point.’” Op. at 52

Selected Factual Findings

- "To change the price of e-books across the industry, however, the Publishers would have to raise Amazon's prices. This is where the MFN [Most Favored Nation clause] became such a critical term in Apple's contracts with the Publisher Defendants. It literally stiffened the spines of the Publisher Defendants to ensure that they would demand new terms from Amazon. Thus, the MFN protected Apple from retail price competition as it punished a Publisher if it failed to impose agency terms on other e-tailers." Op. at 55

Factual Conclusions

Publishers

- “There is overwhelming evidence that the Publisher Defendants joined with each other in a horizontal price-fixing conspiracy.” Op. at 113
- “[T]he agency Agreements represented an ‘abrupt shift’ from the past model for the distribution of e-books . . .; in adopting a model that deprived each of them of a stream of expected revenue from the sale of e-books on the wholesale model, the Publisher Defendants all acted against their near-term financial interests; and each of the Publisher Defendants acted in identical ways even though each was also afraid of retaliation by Amazon.” Op. at 120

Factual Conclusions

Apple

- “The Plaintiffs have shown through compelling evidence that Apple violated Section 1 of the Sherman Act by conspiring with the Publisher Defendants to eliminate retail price competition and to raise e-book prices.” Op. at 113
- “Apple not only willingly joined the conspiracy, but also forcefully facilitated it.” Op. at 113.

Factual Conclusions

Compare Interstate Circuit:

- "Each was aware that all were in active competition and that without substantially unanimous action with respect to the restrictions for any given territory there was risk of a substantial loss of the business and good will of the subsequent-run and independent exhibitors, but that with it there was the prospect of increased profits. . . .

  It taxes credulity to believe that the several distributors would, in the circumstances, have accepted and put into operation with substantial unanimity such far-reaching changes in their business methods without some understanding that all were to join, and we reject as beyond the range of probability that it was the result of mere chance."

  Interstate Circuit v. United States, 306 U.S. 208, 222-23 (1939)

Compliance Protocols

- Cartel-like behavior is focus of most antitrust compliance training
- Common compliance training lessons
  - An “agreement” need not be in writing
  - Agreements include – a “gentlemen’s agreement,” a “handshake,” or even a “knowing wink”

Compliance Protocols

- Agreements may be inferred from circumstantial evidence
  - Beware “opportunities to agree”
    - When you meet, particularly in undocumented settings, followed by substantially parallel conduct, a court or prosecutor may infer an agreement
    - Quick Lesson: Without antitrust advice, do not even discuss commercially sensitive subjects with competitors and document any meeting
  - Beware conduct that only makes economic sense if engaged in by an entire industry
    - Acting against your independent economic self-interest is a red flag

Compliance Protocols

- Mere exchange of sensitive price information with competitors can give rise to an inference of illegal agreement
- Thus, be very careful when dealing with competitors
- Consult with counsel and document such communications, if they occur
  - Date, time, identity of participants, subject matter

Compliance Protocols

- What you cannot do directly, you also cannot do indirectly
  - May not use an agent (such as a distributor or consultant) to facilitate an antitrust conspiracy
- Example: Marine Hose matter
  - Conspirators had little or no direct interaction
  - Coordinated their conduct through an “outside consultant”
  - All held criminally liable

Compliance Protocols

- Requesting information on competitor activity creates risk
  - "Ask first" policy: check with the company's counsel before making such a request
- If a customer/distributor gives you competitive information:
  - Document the source of that information immediately (date and contact person)
- Safe Course: Never ask or suggest a customer/distributor to pass along Company information to competitors or other customers/distributors

Compliance Protocols

- Examples of language in documents that can be misunderstood and taken out of context and thus, absent careful consideration, should be avoided:
  - Language suggesting guilt
    - “read and destroy”
  - Words of aggression or competitive exclusion such as
    - “dominate the market”
    - “kill the competition”
    - “get rid of the discounters”
  - Statements or speculation regarding the legality or legal consequences of any action of two firms or of a trade association

Presented by:

Mark J. Botti, Partner
Anthony W. Swisher, Partner
Squire Sanders (US) LLP
1200 19th Street, NW, Suite 300
Washington, DC 20036
Tel: 202-626-6600
mark.botti@squiresanders.com
anthony.swisher@squiresanders.com

Christopher L. Sagers
James A. Thomas Distinguished Professor of Law
Cleveland State University
2121 Euclid Ave., LB 138
Cleveland, OH 44115
(216) 687-2319